

COMPARING DUO SECURITY TO Large Platform Vendors

Large platform vendors often provide authentication and access management options at a low cost when bundled with other services.

While these options may appear to be attractive with lower upfront costs than dedicated security solutions, there are many other key requirements that should be considered when evaluating security solutions.

Duo Security does not publish or endorse negative reviews of competitive vendors. Instead, here are some important points to consider when comparing Duo's Trusted Access solution to bundled services from large platform vendors.
